TIPS FOR HOSTS

BUILD A SOLID INVITATION LIST

As with any other group gathering, you can expect 30% of the people you invite to be able to attend. Be sure to use the thought-joggers in this planner to build your list and check out the sample invitation that you can personalize and send to your guests.

PERSONAL REMINDERS

Text or call your guests a day or two before your Tasting to remind them of the event – this lets people know you're excited to see them and really increases attendance.

SEATING

It's ideal to have all guests seated together at a table in one location – this can be inside or outside - weather permitting.

PREPARATION

Boisset tasting experiences are easy, relaxed, and fun because once you pick your deeply discounted flight, the drinks are taken care of! Your Ambassador will arrive 30 minutes early to set up and will guide the tasting. Afterwards, they will leave any remaining open wine with you and your guests to enjoy at your own pace.

We recommend serving water and simple foods that complement your wine flight to be sure your guests have the ultimate wine tasting experience, such as:

- One sharp aged cheddar – round up as this will be the most popular
- One soft, creamy cheese like Brie, Boursin, Camembert, Burrata...
- One hard cheese like Aged Gouda, Parmigiano Reggiano, aged Asiago...
- Plain crackers and/or sliced crusty bread, such as baguette
- Fresh berries (blueberries, grapes, apples, strawberries)
- Nuts or other crunchy salted snacks

SAMPLE INVITATION

Hi everyone,

I'd love to have you join me/us for a guided wine tasting experience, featuring 5 exclusive wines from the award-winning wineries of the Boisset Collection on [Date] at [Time]!

We will be tasting wines that are typically not available outside world-famous tasting rooms such as Raymond Vineyards in Napa Valley, Buena Vista Winery in Sonoma, and DeLoach Vineyards in Russian River Valley.

For a preview you can check out My.BoissetCollection.com.

If you like the wines, you will be able to order and have them shipped to your home or office within 1-2 days.

Please RSVP so I can reserve your glass!

We recommend sending a personalized invitation from one of the following websites along with a group Facebook post.

- Evite.com
- Paperlesspost.com
